Wall Enclosure

The 13-character installation “Wall Enclosure” was created in situ at Urban Spree in January 2020 by Isaac Cordal for the “WALLS” exhibition.

It is a dark and powerful dystopian evocation of loneliness, bureaucratie, and alienation.

A miniature universe set in a series of upcycled kitchen furniture, spray painted and enhanced with patina. Each unit is different and can be purchased independently. Comes with its lighting system.
